If it's even a little different ask your electricity retailer to update your name

Why it's important:

Your electricity retailer sends us the names of who to pay, so it's important they have it right for the Entrust Dividend payment later this year.

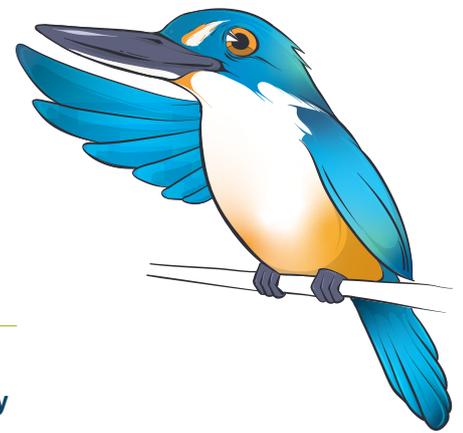

That's all from me for now. For more information about the Entrust Dividend, visit entrustnz.co.nz.

Our Entrust Dividend and so much more

How we're sharing a power of good with 333,000 Auckland families and businesses

Keeping the power in your hands

Entrust is a private trust that owns 75.1% of Vector – one of New Zealand's largest infrastructure companies.

Cutting down on power poles

As part of our agreement with Vector, they're required to invest $10.5 million every year on undergrounding and new technologies.

Backing green energy

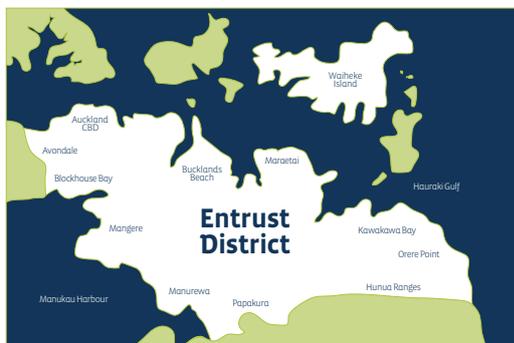

We're working with Vector to roll out clever technology like community battery storage, electric vehicle charging and more.

Standing up for Auckland power customers

Electricity prices are complicated and some parts of them are controlled by government. So we review any proposed changes and if we think they're unfair we make submissions on behalf of our 333,000 families and businesses.

HOW IT ALL WORKS

Entrust is a private trust that's set up to benefit every family and business connected to the Vector network within our area.

WHO GETS A DIVIDEND?

Everyone in the Entrust District whose name is on a power bill when we put our annual list together later in the year. Find out the story behind that at entrustnz.co.nz/about-us
